

PROHIBITION OF FEMALE GENITAL MUTILATION(FGM): INTERNATIONAL AND REGIONAL FRAMEWORK

African Charter on the Rights and Welfare of the Child, 1990

Article 21: Protection against Harmful Social and Cultural Practices

1. States Parties to the present Charter shall take all appropriate measures to eliminate harmful social and cultural practices affecting the welfare, dignity, normal growth and development of the child and in particular:

- (a) those customs and practices prejudicial to the health or life of the child; and
- (b) those customs and practices discriminatory to the child on the grounds of sex or other status.

Convention on the Rights of the Child, 1989

Article 24(3): State parties shall take all effective and appropriate measures with a view to abolishing traditional practices prejudicial to the health of children.

General Comment 13(2011), The right of the child to freedom from all forms of violence

Paragraph 29: Harmful practices. These include, but are not limited to: (a) Corporal punishment and other cruel or degrading forms of punishment;

(b) Female genital mutilation;

Protocol to the African Charter on Human and Peoples' Rights on the Rights of Women in Africa, 2003

Article 5: Elimination of Harmful Practices

States Parties shall prohibit and condemn all forms of harmful practices which negatively affect the human rights of women and which are contrary to recognised international standards. States Parties shall take all necessary legislative and other measures to eliminate such practices, including:

- b) prohibition, through legislative measures backed by sanctions, of all forms of female genital mutilation, scarification, mediatisation and para-medicalisation of female genital mutilation and all other practices in order to eradicate them;

CEDAW General Comment 14: Female Circumcision

Noting with grave concern that there are continuing cultural, traditional and economic pressures which help to perpetuate harmful practices, such as female circumcision, recommends to States parties:

- (a) That States parties take appropriate and effective measures with a view to eradicating the practice of female circumcision.

Such measures could include:

- (i) The collection and dissemination by universities, medical or nursing associations, national women's organizations or other bodies of basic data about such traditional practices;
  - (ii) The support of women's organizations at the national and local levels working for the elimination of female circumcision and other practices harmful to women;
  - (iii) The encouragement of politicians, professionals, religious and community leaders at all levels including the media and the arts to cooperate in influencing attitudes towards the eradication of female circumcision;
  - (iv) The introduction of appropriate educational and training programmes and seminars based on research findings about the problems arising from female circumcision;
- (b) That States parties include in their national health policies appropriate strategies aimed at eradicating female circumcision in public health care. Such strategies could include the special responsibility of health personnel including traditional birth attendants to explain the harmful effects of female circumcision;

(c) That States parties invite assistance, information and advice from the appropriate organizations of the United Nations system to support and assist efforts being deployed to eliminate harmful traditional practices;

(d) That States parties include in their reports to the Committee under articles 10 and 12 of the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women information about measures taken to eliminate female circumcision.
